Go Green — Celebrate Earth Day by Recycling eWaste

Earth Day 2013 marks our corporate-wide commitment to the reduction of electronic waste (eWaste) and signals the beginning of our national campaign to increase awareness of eWaste recycling among Postal Service™ employees, federal agencies, and American consumers. In this issue of the Postal Bulletin, we feature a wide range of articles and tips on recycling eWaste in the office, and providing your employees and customers with revenue generating opportunities for reselling personal electronic equipment through Maxback — a new service offered to the public. Many people may not realize that electronics is one of the fastest growing waste streams in the world, and only a small fraction of this waste is recycled. Electronics contain some of the most hazardous wastes generated in the workplace and in our homes. Electronic equipment, such as cell phones, contain a range of toxic metals like lead, cadmium, and mercury, which can have significant adverse effects on groundwater quality when thrown away.

In 2012, the Postal Service joined the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Federal Green Challenge with the objective of recycling 50% of all our solid waste by the year 2015. We know this goal is achievable because, thanks to you, we recycled 48% of all solid waste in FY 2012. Electronic waste represents 2% of the total waste stream in America and nearly that same percentage within the Postal Service. If we recycle all of our electronic waste by FY 2015, we will meet our Federal Green Challenge goal and divert these wastes from landfills.

We are especially heartened by the remarkable accomplishments of the Topeka, Kansas Material Distribution Center, which recycled 1,267 tons of electronic waste in FY 2012. Despite this great accomplishment, a recent survey revealed that only about 25% of Postal Service supervisors are aware of corporate electronic recycling services in our organization. This issue of the Postal Bulletin provides instructions on taking advantage of the Topeka MDC electronic recycling program and promotes an innovative Postal Service program that allows you to resell recent model personal cell phones through the Maxback program. The Maxback program generates revenue for both the Postal Service and its customers, and we encourage you to share this information with your employees.

Finally, Earth Day also celebrates our sustainability initiatives. This issue offers guidance on hosting an Earth Day event using the theme of eWaste recycling. Earth Day officially falls on Monday, April 22nd, but you are encouraged to host any special events before or after that date. The date you choose for your Earth Day event should be dictated by a variety of factors including other local Earth Day activities within your community and the ease of coordinating such an event with the least possible disruption to Postal Service operations.

Please consider hosting a low- or no-cost Earth Day event. We also urge you to become familiar with the wide range of sustainability initiatives available through our Lean Green Teams. Earth Day may happen once a year, but our sustainability practices should become part of the fabric of our working lives. Go green, and celebrate Earth Day 2013 by recycling your eWaste.

How to Recycle Postal Service Facility eWaste

What is Electronic Waste (eWaste)?

The term “eWaste” is broadly defined as obsolete, surplus, or broken electrical or electronic devices, but may include a variety of equipment (see the Recyclable Postal Service eWaste list). Improper disposal of eWaste could be harmful to human health and the environment as it generally contains heavy metals such as lead, cadmium, and mercury. Exporting eWaste has resulted in “third world” dumping, which poses serious environmental and public health threats.¹ eWaste also puts confidential or proprietary information at risk.² Therefore, the USPS® has developed policies for managing eWaste: 1) secure data destruction, 2) recycling and reuse, and 3) landfill avoidance.

How Much eWaste Does the United States Generate?

According to recent EPA studies, 2009 sales of new consumer electronics in the United States doubled over the previous 10-year period. In that same year:

- 438 million consumer electronics were sold.
- 5 million tons of electronics were placed in storage.
- 2.37 million tons were ready for end-of-life management.
- Only 25 percent of this tonnage was collected for recycling.

Until we can maximize reuse and recycling of this equipment, eWaste will continue to pose serious environmental challenges.

What is the USPS Doing About eWaste?

The USPS continues to upgrade its information technology platform and faces the concurrent challenge of disposing of excess equipment caused by the realignment, consolidation, and downsizing of its network. As a result, the USPS generation of eWaste will substantially increase over the next several years. In 2011, USPS Supply Management entered into an innovative revenue sharing contract with Asset LifeCycle, LLC, at the Topeka Material Distribution Center, to promote the collection, reuse, recycling, and disposal of electronic equipment.

Asset LifeCycle is a third party certified “responsible recycler.” This certification ensures best management practices and guarantees that the vendor assesses the environmental, worker health, and security practices of entities managing used electronics generated by the Postal Service. In 2012, the Postal Service recycled over 1,267 tons of eWaste and generated over $740,000 in revenue for the Postal Service. In contrast, the Postal Service recycled 721 tons and earned $345,000 in 2011. For FY 2013, this innovative recycling program is expected to once again double the USPS recycled eWaste tonnage and revenue. It pays to recycle eWaste within the Postal Service.

What Can You Do?

- ACE Hardware and Equipment. Contact your local IT office to get accountability, collection, and shipping procedures for shipping ACE hardware and equipment to the Topeka Material Distribution Center.
- Processing and Distributions Centers. Follow MMO 04212, which provides instructions for shipping eWaste to the Topeka Material Distribution Center. Click the link for instructions: http://blue.usps.gov/sustainability/electronic_stewardship.htm.
- Post Offices. Contact your local IT office for ACE-related hardware and equipment. Other eWastes (see the Recyclable Postal Service eWaste list) may be shipped directly to the Topeka Material Distribution Center.
- Electronic Security-Related Equipment. Contact your local Postal Inspection Service Field Office.

Make sure your office is recycling its eWaste to ensure these items are generating revenue, rather than being placed in the trash. To take advantage of this nationwide eWaste recycling program, go to the sustainability website and download the instructions for sending your obsolete or non-functioning equipment to the Topeka Material Distribution Center. The eWaste shipping instructions are available at: http://blue.usps.gov/sustainability/electronic_stewardship.htm.

Electronics Recycling Tips

What is eWaste?

As electronic devices have become more affordable, American consumers acquire new devices and upgrade old equipment, which has made electronic waste (eWaste) more common. eWaste includes old computers, cell phones, televisions, DVD/VHS players, stereos and printers. Since electronics contain hazardous materials, such as cadmium, lead, and mercury, they cannot be thrown in the garbage.

If not properly disposed of, these hazardous materials can become hazardous to human health and contaminate the environment. To prevent improper disposal, electronics must be recycled. Materials used in electronics take considerable amounts of energy to process and manufacture. Recycling electronics helps the environment by conserving natural resources, saving energy, and reducing waste, which keeps reusable materials out of landfills.

Did You Know...?

- Americans now own approximately 24 electronic products per household.

- Electronic waste accounts for 2 – 5% of U.S. household garbage and is the fastest growing municipal waste stream in the U.S.
- Electronics are the leading source of lead and mercury in the municipal waste stream. A typical desktop computer contains 27 grams of lead — a potent toxin that provides no health benefit to humans.
- Manufacturing one computer and monitor takes 530 pounds of fossil fuels, 48 pounds of chemicals, and 1.5 tons of water.

What Does it Mean to the Postal Service?

Most eWaste is regulated under hazardous waste, if not recycled, and most states prohibit landfill disposal. Postal Service® policy calls for the resale and recycling of the eWaste it generates at the Topeka Material Distribution Center. Help keep eWaste out of landfills and protect our community and the environment by shipping eWaste to the Topeka Asset Recovery Center.

What Can You Do?

- Don't trash electronics — eWaste must be recycled.
- Package eWaste using available shipping containers.
- Send all old USPS electronics to the Asset Recovery Center at:

USPS Asset Recovery Center
7215 S. Topeka Blvd, Bldg. 3D
Topeka, KS 66624-9998.

What Should Employees Know?

- Recycle all electronic equipment. eWaste is any electronic waste that is either broken or obsolete. A wide range of items are considered eWaste, including televisions, computer monitors, keyboards, audio and stereo equipment, VCRs and DVD players, video cameras, telephones, cell phones, printers, copy machines, scanners, video game consoles, and many other products.
- Electronic equipment contains hazardous materials. Scanners, cell phones, Cathode Ray Tubes (CRT), and computers contain appreciable amounts of lead, a hazardous material that should never be disposed of in a landfill.
- Cell phones must be recycled. The EPA has determined that a typical cell phone contains 1 gram of mercury — a sufficient quantity to pose a threat to soil and water quality, if disposed of in landfills.
- If it has a plug or operates on a battery, recycle it. The Topeka Material Distribution Center takes DVD and CD players, cell phones, car chargers, fax machines, scanners, pagers, power cords, Personal Digital Assistants (PDA), wires and cables, printers, surge protectors, keyboards, and other peripherals.

- Use the USPS Recycling program. Before you dispose of any eWaste, get acquainted with the Postal Service's electronics recycling program.
- Your efforts count. If every American recycled his or her eWaste daily, we could reduce solid waste by more than 1.5 million tons a year.
- Get involved. Learn more about how to recycle eWaste, save energy, and join a Lean Green Team at the USPS Sustainability website: http://blue.usps.gov/sustainability/electronic_stewardship.htm.

Where Can You Find Additional Information?

Hosting an Employee eWaste Recycling Event

Hosting an electronic waste recycling day for Postal Service™ employees is as simple as following the seven steps below. Before initiating your event, there are two prerequisites for success:

Step 1: Obtain facility management commitment.

Step 2: Identify a reputable eRecycler about a FREE eCycle collection event. The local recycler must agree in writing to the following terms:

- No Cost to USPS.
- Provide guidance to employees as to which eWaste is eligible for recycling.
- Must not impact USPS® mail operations.
- Share data on the amount collected for recycling.
- Comply with R2 or E-steward certification programs:
 - A list of R2 certified recyclers can be found at the R2 Solutions website: <http://www.r2solutions.org/>.
 - A list of E-steward certified recyclers can be found at the E-stewards website: <http://e-stewards.org/>.

Once you have accomplished the first two steps, there are only five more tasks to complete to host a successful eWaste recycling event:

Step 3: Set a date and time for the eCycling event. Remember, you can hold this event after Earth Day if it is more convenient for your employees and USPS operations.

Step 4: Post a notice of the eCycling event that is mutually acceptable to the facility manager and the eWaste recycler. Sample notices are available on the Office of Sustainability Earth Day website.

Step 5: Hold your event. Make sure you have sufficient staff available to provide guidance on electronic equipment recycling procedures, keep order among those waiting in line, coordinate storage of the recyclables, and ensure adequate parking.

Step 6: Make sure the eCycler has taken everything from your site.

Step 7: Request that the eCycler provide a list of the type (e.g. computers, monitors, cell phones, etc) and amount of eWaste collected. Share results with the USPS Office of Sustainability by emailing sustainability@usps.gov.

Notice 890-A, March 2012

PSN 7508-13-000-0381

To promote Earth Day and the USPS® Green commitment, all facilities must separate out electronic equipment and batteries from their waste stream to ensure these items are recycled. As a matter of law, almost all electronic equipment is considered hazardous waste under the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's "contained in rule" when electronic equipment contains toxic metals such as lead, cadmium, and mercury. These toxic metals are found in a variety of handheld and stationary electronic equipment. Similarly, lamps which contain mercury, such as fluorescent lamps, are also considered hazardous and must be recycled.

Facility managers and postmasters are urged to use Notice 890-A to inform custodians and employees of eWaste that should not be placed in trash compactors or dumpsters. Notice 890-A is an 8-½ by 11-inch self-adhesive label printed on synthetic film that adheres to USPS-owned compactors and dumpsters. This notice can also be installed on leased compactors and dumpsters with prior approval of the vendor. The success of USPS' recycling program depends upon employee awareness, and Notice 890-A increases employee awareness of recycling requirements for certain highly regulated waste streams, including some waste streams that are valuable commodities in the marketplace.

If your facility is not currently recycling plastic, you should investigate opportunities to do so, since this waste represents 32 percent of the total waste in a typical Postal Service™ facility. Even if your facility is not recycling plastic, you are requested to post Notice 890-A on the compactor or dumpster, and cover over the words "plastic shrink wrap and strap" with a peel-off label. Once you begin recycling plastic, you can remove the peel-off label. The Postal Service can make significant reductions in its solid waste disposal costs if employees and customers recycle. Notice 890-A is also intended to reinforce the efforts of facilities aiming to achieve "zero waste" by 2015.

Facility managers and postmasters should use the eBay online catalog requisition system to order Notice 890-A from the MDC. Search for items using the PSN listed below (without the dashes). If your office doesn't have access to eBay, order using touch-tone order entry (TTOE): Call 800-273-1509. Note: You must be registered to use TTOE. To register, call 800-332-0317, option 1, extension 2925, and follow the prompts to leave a message (wait 48 hours after registration before placing your first order). For TTOE ordering instructions, visit the Materials Customer Service website at http://blue.usps.gov/purchase/_doc/ops_ttoeins.doc or call 800-332-0317, option 4, option 4.

Federal Recycling for America's Future

The U.S. Postal Service® has launched an exciting new program to assist federal agencies to recycle on a national level. The USPS® Federal Recycling Program allows the customer agencies and their employees to repurpose and recycle qualified end-of-life products free of charge.

Most federal agencies have some type of recycling program in place, but usually serve only the largest facilities or the headquarters location, and require a truck pick-up. The USPS Federal Recycling Program provides every federal agency with the opportunity to recycle at every location, no matter how large or small. Since the program is web-based, it is as simple as printing a label and sending recyclables out with the mail. This process makes recycling easy enough for every federal location to participate:

"The Federal Recycling Program does not require federal agencies to replace any of their existing recycling programs. It can easily supplement recycling programs already in place, said Tom Day, chief sustainability officer for the U.S. Postal Service."

The Federal Recycling Program is free to every federal agency because the USPS designated recycler receives residual value from these products, and by agreement, funds the transportation cost via mail service from the federal agency's location to the certified recycler's destination.

The program is divided into two categories:

- A recycling program for federal agencies on a national level for government equipment, such as ink jet and toner cartridges and small electronics shipped via USPS from a government location.
- A recycling program for federal agency employees on a national level for disposal of their personal property, such as ink jet and toner cartridges and small electronics shipped via USPS from the employee's home.

In each of the two categories above, the employee follows a simple process to access a customized website, input the required information, print a label, seal the items in a non-descript box provided by the agency or employee, and submit the parcel to a mail carrier through current standard mailing procedures.

The Federal Recycling Program provides a brand new revenue stream for the U.S. Postal Service and assists federal agencies in meeting President Obama's Executive Order 13514, Federal Leadership in Environmental, Energy, and Economic Performance, with reporting and analysis done on every item exchanged.

Currently, Phase One consists of eight federal agencies, including the U.S. Postal Service, each of which is in the process of launching the Federal Recycling Program. For information on how your agency can participate in the Federal Recycling Program, call 202-268-6300 or send an email to: govt.sales@usps.gov.

Consumer eWaste Recycling — A New "Return For Good" Service

American consumers love gadgets. Consumer Electronics Associations estimate that the average U.S. household owns 24 electronic products and spends about $1,407 per year on new electronics. American consumers purchase 30 million computers and 130 million cell phones every year. What happens to these devices when they become obsolete?

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) estimates that 350,000 cell phones and 130,000 computers are thrown out every day, which creates 3–4 million tons of eWaste a year. Electronics contain materials that are hazardous to the environment. If thrown in the trash and dumped into landfills, compounds like lead, mercury, cadmium, chromium, zinc, nickel, and PCBs can leak into the soil, contaminate our water supply, or escape into the air we breathe. There are better options that can extend the life of these devices and reduce their negative impact on the environment. If your used electronic device is still in working condition and fairly up-to-date, you can trade it in or donate it to someone who can use it. If it doesn't work or is obsolete, recycle it so the components can be repurposed into new products.

The website known as www.Earth911.com estimates that 70% of discarded electronics have materials that can be recovered and repurposed. Unfortunately, less than 30% of this eWaste is recycled. Over 25 states have recently passed legislation to deal with the rapidly growing quantity of eWaste, which is considered a serious hazardous waste issue. One solution is recycling; a second solution is product stewardship.

The Product Stewardship Institute defines product stewardship as a policy that holds everyone in the product's lifecycle responsible for minimizing the health, safety, and environmental impact, from creation to end-of-life disposition. Manufacturers, distributors, retailers, consumers, and recyclers all share responsibility from design to manufacturing to eventual repurposing/recycling. As a consumer, here are ways that you can reduce eWaste:

- At the point of purchase, choose products that have convenient recycling options.
- Maximize product life by taking care of your electronics.
- Once the product is ready for recycling or disposal, repurpose or reuse it around the home or office.
- When a product breaks or becomes obsolete, your best means of disposal are resale, donation, or proper recycling.

Most communities publish information online about how to handle various types of household waste. Many communities have established special sites or special events to encourage consumers to do the right thing. Check out your city or county website for local announcements. Earth911.com also has advice and listings of recycling facilities in your area. Some retailers have bins for small electronics, accessories, and print cartridges. How many times have you walked by the bins in your favorite store and realized you forgot to bring your old items for recycling?

Consumers are more aware of the issues surrounding improper disposal; however, in a survey sponsored by the U.S. Postal Service®, we learned that 35% of consumers aren't willing to travel to a local collection center to recycle their electronics. eWaste recycling must be convenient and free or low cost.

The U.S. Postal Service is a logical intermediary for recycling and recovery services as it has received numerous accolades for corporate sustainability achievements. The U.S. Postal Service was named the most trusted government agency and the fourth most trusted company in the United States according to the Ponemon Institute. The USPS® touches every household, every day with over 30,000 Post Offices and over 140 million delivery points.

Our commitment to sustainability extends beyond internal programs to reduce our corporate impact on the environment. The new Reverse Logistics Product Development group is designing "MailBack" recycling and recovery programs for consumers to leverage our presence in every community and at every mailbox. We are breaking down "inconvenience" barriers and making it easy for consumers to do the right thing and recycle their eWaste. MailBack programs are gaining in popularity — especially in rural areas — because they solve the consumer's primary concerns:

- Infrequent and unpredictable timing of recycling events
- Transportation to events or to the drop-off center

Return for Good, powered by USPS Returns, is a collection of MailBack programs designed to simplify the disposal process for consumers. The Return for Good website helps consumers connect with certified recycling providers for a variety of products. Our first project features MaxBack.com — a website that provides opportunities to receive cash back for recent model small electronics. For those who got the new iPhone5 for Christmas, did you know you could get cash for your old iPhone 4? Go to www.usps.com/return-for-good to look up your smartphone's value and start a cash-back transaction. If you are a USPS employee, check out the video at http://ipchecker/USPSTV/MaxBack_oc.wmv. If you are accessing the internet from outside the USPS intranet, check out the video at <http://youtu.be/JfbJSQKSKI>.

Maybe you have some outdated small electronics at home — MaxBack will accept them too, but they may request that you pay the postage. If you create a shipping label online at www.usps.com and schedule a Free Package Pickup, you'll ensure those older electronics are disposed of properly.

What about your old inkjet cartridges? There's a MailBack solution for that, too. The Return for Good web page contains a list of the 3,100 Post Offices with a lobby display that has free postage-paid plastic envelopes to make it easier to dispose of used inkjet cartridges — and it's free. Leave the envelope in your mailbox or drop it at your local Post Office.

Note: don't use the envelope to send in used electronics — there isn't enough cushioning to protect it from damage. Add Return for Good to your favorite websites, and check back often to browse more MailBack programs. For more information, go to www.usps.com/return-for-good.

Green Teams as Change Agents for Electronic Stewardship

Lean Green Teams are moving forward in FY 2013 to get all plants and Network Distribution Centers (NDC) signed up on the Green Initiative Tracking Tool (GITT). On the GITT, teams are selecting easy low- and no-cost projects to reduce wasted facility energy, vehicle fuel, water, and spending on office supplies. Lean Green Teams also work on diverting solid waste from landfills to recycling in order to reduce disposal costs and build revenue. In FY 2012, USPS® efforts in these programs resulted in a positive impact to the bottom line of over $76 million. But there is still a lot of opportunity to get involved in reducing waste and cost, boosting revenue, and making the USPS a more sustainable place to work. Every little bit makes a difference, especially when you multiply even the smallest savings by 33,000 facilities and 212,000 vehicles.

This year, we have more options to help Lean Green Teams save money and generate revenue for the USPS, including helping to divert USPS electronic wastes to the Topeka Material Distribution Center (see companion article on page 4) and promoting the new USPS Federal Recycling Program (see companion article on page 8). These two programs are designed to promote internal electronic waste recycling, and help all federal agencies and their employees recycle qualified end-of-life products free of charge.

Lean Green Teams are encouraged to help the Postal Service™ reduce electronic waste by:

- Sharing the companion article on electronic recycling tips with fellow employees so none of these items go in landfills (see page 5).
- Working with employee supervisors to deploy Notice 890-A on all dumpsters and compactors at Postal Service facilities. Notice 890-A is intended to remind employees and custodians that electronic waste must never be disposed of in landfills.

Watch for the announcement of the USPS web link so that your Lean Green Team can take advantage of the benefits of these important eWaste recycling programs for the wide range of electronics generated at your facility.

If you aren't a member of a Lean Green Team at your facility, you have probably heard something about these teams in the last few years. If you haven't had the opportunity to participate, as an individual or as a team, take a look at the Lean Green Team home page at <http://blue.usps.gov/sustainability/greenteams.htm>. You will find links to the Lean Green Team Guide and other resources to help you establish a successful Lean Green Team at your facility.

Standard Operating Procedure

Recycling Small Dry-Cell Batteries

This updated Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) revises the guidance issued in the May 17, 2012, Postal Bulletin (PB 22337, page 76) that addresses the recycling of larger volt dry-cell batteries. The latest revision provides for the use of an Intelligent Mail barcode that can be printed from an online website. Additionally, this SOP establishes:

- Processes for recycling dry-cell rechargeable and non-rechargeable batteries through the Mail Recovery Center (MRC) in Atlanta, GA, in accordance with Postal Service™ policies and universal waste-management regulations. Federal environmental regulations require that all universal waste be recycled.
- Methods for recycling small dry-cell batteries at all Postal Service operations and requires employees to follow approved disposal and recycling procedures for used batteries.

Certain types of batteries are considered hazardous because they contain heavy metals or corrosive electrolyte solutions. These include (but are not limited to) nickel-cadmium (Ni-Cd), nickel-metal hydride (NiMH), lithium (Li) or lithium ion (Li-ion), lithium polymer (Li-poly), silver oxide, and other small dry-cell batteries. When these batteries die, they must be handled as universal waste.

Universal waste is a subcategory of hazardous waste, but is subject to less restrictive environmental regulations, as long as the universal waste is scheduled for recycling. Lead-acid automotive batteries and sealed lead-acid emergency batteries are designated as universal waste, but are not discussed in these instructions.

Common Postal Service Dry-Cell Batteries

The pictures below show common types of batteries:

- Ni-Cd and NiMH batteries are used in cell phones, pagers, cameras, and power tools.
- Li-ion batteries are used in some cell phones, laptops, and cameras, and in all Intelligent Mail Data Acquisition System scanners.
- Li batteries are used in cameras and other electronic devices that don't require rechargeable batteries.
- Silver oxide batteries are used in watches, laptops, and other devices that require button-cell batteries.

Approximately 70 percent of the batteries used by the Postal Service are rechargeable, and a majority of these are Ni-Cd, Li-ion (secondary lithium), and sealed lead-acid.

When an inoperable battery is removed from a piece of equipment, determine what type it is and follow the management guidelines for disposing of it. There are three primary types of batteries, each with specific handling requirements:

- Alkaline batteries — considered nonhazardous.
- Sealed lead-acid batteries — not covered in this document.
- All other dry-cell batteries — handle as universal waste.

Except for Li-ion IMDAS batteries, which have specific mailing requirements, alkaline batteries and small dry-cell batteries should be recycled according to the shipping procedures outlined in this article. For Li-ion battery shipping instructions, including the requirement that no more than three Li-ion rechargeable batteries should be mailed together, see Mailing Standards of the United States Postal Service, Domestic Mail Manual (DMM®).

Disposal of Used Batteries Greater Than 9 Volts

Batteries greater than 9 volts (e.g., 12-volt, 14-volt, 16-volt, 18-volt, and 24-volt) or with different chemistries follow the shipping procedures outlined in this article with one exception — they must not be combined with mixed batteries of less than or equal to 9-volt batteries. Voltage batteries larger than 9-volts of the same type must be packaged and shipped separately from smaller mixed batteries.

Procedures

1. Select a small, sturdy cardboard box. If opting for a used box, remove or cover all barcodes.
2. Place up to 15 pounds of dry-cell batteries into the box and pack them securely with paper. To prevent short circuits, tape all battery terminals so they don't have contact with one another.
3. Tape the box shut.
4. Print the following address label from this link: <https://www.uspsreturns.com/CreateLabel.aspx?ID=103&DisplayType=Customer&ShippingInfoIncluded=No>
 - a. You will be instructed to enter your facility address.
 - b. For Package & Shipping Information, enter Small Dry-Cell Batteries.
 - c. Click next and follow printing instructions.
5. Do not use Priority or Express Mail Tape or Priority or Express Mail Boxes.

ELM Revision: Annuity Estimate to Be Mailed Once a Year to CSRS and FERS Employees

Effective April 4, 2013, the Postal Service™ is revising the Employee and Labor Relations Manual (ELM). The Postal Service provides annuity estimates for eligible Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) and Federal Employee Retirement System (FERS) employees through four different sources:

- eRetire, a self-service, web-based application.
- PostalEASE/National Retirement Counseling System (NARECS).
- Human Resources Shared Service Center (HRSSC) by telephone request.
- Semiannually by mail.

Employees can now access their annuity information instantly through eRetire or order an annuity estimate through PostalEASE. Therefore, ELM 569.12 and 589.12 are revised to change the annuity estimate mailing from semiannual to annual.

Employees without computer access will still be able to contact HRSSC and request annuity estimates by telephone.

IMM Correction: Express Mail International Merchandise Insurance

The article titled “IMM Revision: Changes to Pricing and Mailing Standards for International Shipping Services” in Postal Bulletin 22352 (12-13-12, pages 84–96) included revisions throughout Mailing Standards of the United States Postal Service, International Mail Manual (IMM®) to reflect the increase in the merchandise insurance limit for Express Mail International shipments from $100 to $200. However, we inadvertently missed making the appropriate revision in section 141.3.

The applicable revision appears in this article.

Publications

Publication 75, Mover's Guide, News

What's New?

As of April 1, 2013, any old copies of Publication 75, Mover's Guide must be recycled. All Post Offices should have received the new April–June 2013 issue of Publication 75 by March 31, 2013. Similar to last quarter's shipment, the total quantity of Mover's Guide copies sent to your facility may have been reduced. In an effort to reduce waste and account for more customers submitting change-of-address orders online, fewer Mover's Guide copies are needed. There are several things you can do to conserve as well:

- Make sure customers are aware that USPS.com® is the most convenient, safe, and secure way for customers to submit a change-of-address order.
- Encourage carriers to take ICOA message cards on their routes instead of Mover's Guide copies.
- Give Mover's Guide copies out to moving customers only.

Important Reminders

- Copies of Mover's Guide must be kept behind the counter ONLY, not in inner or outer lobbies or on clerk counters.
- Customers unwilling or unable to submit their change of address at www.usps.com should be given a complete, unopened copy of Mover's Guide.

- Provide no more than three copies of Mover's Guide to each customer.
- Mover's Guide is printed and distributed four times a year.

Shipment Information and Inventory Management

Offices will continue to receive copies of Mover's Guide in one or two shipments. The first shipments should have arrived at the end of March. The second shipments will arrive 3 to 5 weeks later.

- Boxes with green stickers are the first shipment for this print run.
- Boxes with orange stickers are the second and final shipment for this print run.

To track or find your office's shipment information, go to http://blue.usps.gov/purchase/operations/ops_downloads.htm and click Mover's Guide (Pub 75) Distribution for April – June 2013. Use the CTRL+ F Function while the “Fedstrip” Column is highlighted to search for your office.

To request a shipment quantity change, call Imagitas at 800-816-6837.

Businesses and organizations must purchase their copies of Mover's Guide and can obtain order forms by calling Imagitas at 800-816-6837.

ICOA Message Card Information

If your Post Office™ has an ICOA message card display, replenishment cards and updated banners will be mailed with your Mover's Guide shipments. Do not throw the display away. The display is required to be in the lobby and expected to have the ICOA message cards in it at all times.

If any Post Office runs out of ICOA message cards between shipments, use the website at <http://imagitas.com/contact/postal-request-form/> or call 800-816-6837 for replenishment.

BMEU/DMU Involvement in the SOX Compliance Program

The Postal Service™ is in its third year of realizing SOX compliance, and Business Mail Entry Unit/Detached Mail Units (BMEU/DMUs) serve as an integral part of the SOX compliance program. This past year, testing BMEU/DMU key controls enabled the Postal Service to accurately report approximately $16 billion in revenue. The SOX program continues to test key controls at these facilities to ensure SOX compliance standards are met.

During the mail entry process, it is important to thoroughly ensure each control activity is executed in accordance to policy, job-aids, and Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs). The latest SOX Key Control Guide at http://blue.usps.gov/sox/_pdf/Current_Key_Control_Guide.pdf outlines the proper steps and required documentation for BMEU/DMU processes. For example, mail acceptance clerks must ensure that the postage statements are complete by verifying the postage statement has the following fields: mailer's signature, postage amount, and the permit number. The following updated list details the BMEU controls tested regularly at Postal Service facilities:

- Postage statement check-in.
- Verification procedures: Verifications.
- Finalize/clear: Verify each container has a clearance document.

- Reconciliation: Perform end-of-day reconciliation.
- Acceptance: Postage statement completion.

The SOX Key Control Guide also explains testing protocol and procedures at DMUs :

- New! Postage statement check-in.
- Verification procedures: Verifications.
- Finalize/clear (DMU): Observe loading and secure vehicles.
- Acceptance: Postage statement completion.

Ensuring proper execution of procedures and required documentation of these controls is critical to the Postal Service's bottom-line. Your efforts help the Postal Service continue to be a SOX compliant organization.

To see how your unit is doing, check the SOX Compliance Scorecard on the SOX website at <http://blue.usps.gov/sox>. You can also visit the SOX website to view links to the latest Key Control Guide Webinar series held this past December. Please send any SOX-related questions to the SOX inbox at SOX@usps.gov.

Invalid Express Mail Corporate Account Numbers

This listing should be provided to Contract Postal Units and used by acceptance clerks in non-POS locations without intranet access to validate an Express Mail Corporate Account (EMCA) number online. For all other locations, online EMCA validation is preferred. The online validation process is outlined in the EMCA Validation SOP on the Retail webpage. This list supersedes all previous notices, which must be recycled. Acceptance clerks must not accept Express Mail® shipments bearing an invalid EMCA number in the “Payment by Account” or “Agreement Number” section of the Express Mail label or form.

Note: The first 6 digits of a 9-digit Custom Designed Service and Next Day Pickup Agreement make up the Corporate Account Number.

Verifying U.S. Postal Service Money Orders

Follow these steps to cash a Postal Service™ money order:

1. Check that the amount does not exceed the legal limit: $1,000 for domestic, and $700 for international postal money orders.
2. Check that the proper security features are present:
 - When held to the light, a watermark of Benjamin Franklin is repeated from top to bottom on the left side.
 - When held to the light, a dark line (security thread) runs from top to bottom with the word "USPS" repeated.
 - There should be no discoloration around the dollar amounts, which might indicate the amounts were changes.

These appear in Postal Service Notice 299, U.S. Postal Money Order Reference Card, or online at <https://www.usps.com/shop/accepting-money-orders.htm>.

3. If the money order seems suspicious, call the U.S. Postal Service Money Order Verification System at 866-459-7822.

Please provide this information to local banks and retailers, as they also receive Postal Service money orders for cashing.

Other Information

Overseas Military/Diplomatic Mail

Mail addressed to military and diplomatic post offices overseas is subject to certain conditions or restrictions of mailing regarding content, preparation, and handling. The APO/FPO/DPO table below outlines these conditions by APO/FPO/DPO ZIP Codes™ through the use of footnoted mailing restrictions codes (see the Restrictions page following the table).

Acceptance clerks should use the table with the integrated retail terminal (IRT) or POS ONE terminal to determine which APO/FPO/DPO ZIP Codes are active and which conditions of mailing apply. Acceptance clerks may contact the Military Postal Service Agency with any questions regarding APO/FPO/DPO ZIP Codes, toll free, at 800-810-6098, Monday–Friday, 0730–1600 ET.

For Express Mail Military Service (EMMS) availability, all acceptance clerks must refer to the local hardcopy EMMS directory.

Guarding Against Cyber Attack: CISO Protects USPS Employee and Customer Data

It's a terrifying prospect. A company or government agency is the victim of a cyber attack, data breach, or improper dissemination of confidential materials.

Employees count on electronic communications for information sharing and financial transactions. That's why the Postal Service™ aggressively protects customer and employee data by employing a relentless internal weapon — the Corporate Information Security Office (CISO).

"CISO's purpose is to design, manage, and operate a world-class information security program to protect the Postal Service brand," says Chief Information Officer and Executive Vice President Ellis Burgoyne.

CISO's security responsibilities include everything from monitoring email to securing sensitive information and safeguarding connections between USPS networks.

How effective is CISO? According to 2012 figures, CISO's efforts have helped prevent the following threats each month:

- More than 257 billion unauthorized attempts to access the USPS® network.
- 66,734 attempts to distribute credit card information.
- 345,342 attempts to disseminate Social Security numbers.
- 1,278 attempts to expose USPS-issued credit card transactions.

As diligent as CISO is, it also depends on employees to help meet USPS security goals. "Information security is the cornerstone of maintaining public trust," says CISO Manager Chuck McGann. "From the computer to the mailbox, we depend on every employee to secure the information we hold, whether it's a card, letter, package, or data file."

Stamp Announcement 13-23: Lydia Mendoza Stamp

© 2013 USPS

On May 15, 2013, in San Antonio, Texas at the Guadalupe Cultural Arts Center, the Postal Service™ will issue a Lydia Mendoza First-Class Mail® commemorative stamp (Forever® priced at 46 cents) in one design in a pressure-sensitive adhesive (PSA) pane of 16 stamps (Item 579200). The $7.36 Lydia Mendoza pane of 16 stamps may not be split, and the stamps may not be sold individually.

The stamp will go on sale nationwide May 15, 2013.

The U.S. Postal Service® honors Lydia Mendoza, one of the first and greatest stars of Tejano music. Known for her soulful voice, Mendoza recorded more than a thousand songs over a career that spanned seven decades. The stamp, part of the Music Icons series, features a 1950s black-and-white photo of Mendoza playing her 12-string guitar, with the flag of her home state of Texas superimposed over the singer's image. The stamp pane evokes the appearance of a 45 rpm single peeking out of the stamp art as well as the logo for the Music Icons series. Art director Antonio Alcalá worked on the stamp pane with designers Patrick Donohue and Neal Ashby.

To learn more about the stories behind the stamps, visit www.beyondtheperf.com.

Pictorial Postmarks Announcement

As a community service, the Postal Service™ offers pictorial postmarks to commemorate local events celebrated in communities throughout the nation. A list of events for which pictorial postmarks are authorized appears below. The sponsor of the pictorial postmark appears in italics under the date. Also provided are illustrations of these postmarks.

People attending these local events may obtain the postmark in person at the temporary Post Office™ station established there. Those who cannot attend the event but who wish to obtain the postmark may submit a mail order request. Pictorial postmarks are available only for the dates indicated, and requests must be postmarked no later than 30 days following the requested pictorial postmark date.

All requests must include a stamped envelope or postcard bearing at least the minimum First-Class Mail® postage. Items submitted for postmark may not include postage issued after the date of the requested postmark. Such items will be returned unserved.

Customers wishing to obtain a postmark should affix stamps to any envelope or postcard of their choice, address the envelope or postcard to themselves or others, insert a card of postcard thickness in envelopes for sturdiness, and tuck in the flap. Place the envelope or postcard in a larger envelope and address it to: Pictorial Postmarks, followed by the Name of the Station, Address, City, State, ZIP+4® Code, as listed below.

Customers can also send stamped envelopes and postcards without addresses for postmark, as long as they supply a larger envelope with adequate postage and their return address. After applying the pictorial postmark, the Postal Service returns the items (with or without addresses) under addressed protective cover.

The following pictorial postmark has been extended for 30 days:

How to Order the First-Day-of-Issue Digital Color or Traditional Postmarks

Customers have 60 days to obtain the first-day-of-issue postmarks by mail. They may purchase new stamps at their local Post Office™, by telephone at 800-STAMP-24, or at The Postal Store® website at www.usps.com/shop.

Traditional Postmarks

Customers should affix the stamps to envelopes of their choice, address them to themselves or others, or provide a self-addressed return envelope with sufficient postage large enough to accommodate the canceled item. Mail the request to the corresponding city of issuance. There is no charge for the first 50 postmarks. There is a 5-cent charge for each additional postmark over 50. Customers should submit a check, money order, or credit card for payment. After applying the first-day-of-issue postmark, the Postal Service™ will return the envelopes to the customer by U.S. Mail.

All postmark requests should go to the first-day-of-issue city. The first-day-of-issue city Post Office will then forward in bulk all postmark requests to Cancellation Services, Stamp Fulfillment Services, PO Box 449992, Kansas City, MO 64144-9992 by respective Post Offices.

Digital Color Postmarks

Only select stamp issues offer a digital color postmark. Customers may submit #6 or #10 envelopes constructed of paper rated as "laser safe." The Postal Service recommends envelopes of 80-pound Accent Opaque, acid-free, 9/16" side seams with no glue on the flap. The maximum size of all digital color postmarks is 2" high x 4" long. Allow sufficient space on the envelope to accommodate the postmark. Do not use self-adhesive labels for addresses on the envelope. Two test envelopes must be included. There is a minimum of 10 envelopes at 50 cents per postmark required at the time of servicing. Customers should submit a check, money order, or credit card for payment.

The Postal Service reserves the right to not accept hand-painted and other cachet envelopes that are not compatible with our digital color postmark equipment. The Postal Service also reserves the right to substitute traditional black rubber postmarks if use of nonspecified envelopes results in poor image quality or damage to equipment.

Customers should affix the stamps to the envelopes and address them to themselves or others for return through the mail. Or, they may include an additional self-addressed return envelope, large enough to accommodate their canceled items, with sufficient postage affixed for return of their postmarked items. Mail the request for a first-day-of-issue digital color postmark to the corresponding city of issuance. Post Offices will then forward all customer requests for digital color postmarks to Cancellation Services, Stamp Fulfillment Services, PO Box 449992, Kansas City, MO 64144-9992.

After applying the first-day-of-issue postmark, the Postal Service will return the envelopes to the customer by U.S. Mail.

USPS Headquarters Managers and Field Installation Heads: February 2013 Semi-Annual Capital Property Review Follow-up Action Reminder

Sarbanes-Oxley Act (SOX) Requirement — Finalize Your Semi-Annual Capital Property Report

Postal activities that submitted a February 2013 Semi-Annual Capital Property Certification Report with items marked “Not Found” are to complete the following:

- Print a March and April 2013 “Property Changes for Month” (PCFM) report, which is available in the Enterprise Data Warehouse.
- Verify that the items marked “Not Found” on the Semi-Annual Capital Property Certification Report correspond with a “Full Retirement” on the PCFM report.
- After verification, sign and date the PCFM report.

- Attach the PCFM report to the Semi-Annual Capital Property Certification Report and retain the documents for five years.

The verification of adjustments with the PCFM report is an important SOX control and is subject to audit. If you need assistance with the report, contact the supporting Asset Accountability Service Center at http://blue.usps.gov/purchase/assetmgnt/am_aasc_home.htm.

If you submitted a Semi-Annual Capital Property Certification Report with no adjustments (all items were found and/or accounted for), there is no requirement to print and verify a PCFM report.
