II. MAKING A FOIA REQUEST

A FOIA request for Postal Service records must be in writing, be a request for records, and bear the caption "Freedom of Information Act Request."

There is no required form for submitting a request. A requester should simply write a letter, indicating FOIA somewhere on the letter, and describe the records wanted. It is also helpful to include the amount of processing fees for which the requester is willing to accept liability. If estimated processing fees exceed that amount, the requester will be notified in advance.

A request should describe, with as much detail as possible, the records being requested. The description should be detailed enough to permit an agency employee familiar with the subject matter to locate the records with a reasonable amount of effort. A reasonable description is required by the FOIA and helps ensure prompt retrieval of the records of interest while minimizing processing costs to the requester.

Detailed information on submitting a FOIA request may be found in Handbook AS-353, Guide to Privacy, the Freedom of Information Act, and Records Management. (<http://www.usps.com/cpim/ftp/hand/as353/welcome.htm>)

B. Brief description of why some requests are not granted.

The Postal Service's mission is to provide the nation with reliable, affordable, universal mail service. The basic functions of the Postal Service were established in 39 U.S.C. § 101(a): “. . . [T]o bind the Nation together through the personal, educational, literary, and business correspondence of the people.” The Postal Service is “an independent establishment of the executive branch” of the government, created by the Postal Reorganization Act, (PRA), 39 U.S.C. §§ 101, et seq., and directed to conduct its operations in accordance with sound business principles. It is the policy of the Postal Service to make its official records available to the public to the maximum extent consistent with the public interest.

The Postal Service primarily invokes FOIA Exemptions 2, 3, 5 and 6 to withhold records from disclosure. FOIA Exemption 2 provides that agencies may withhold records “related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of an agency.” Two types of information may be withheld under Exemption 2: (1) records concerning internal matters of a relatively trivial nature (“low 2”), and (2) records concerning substantial internal matters, the disclosure of which would risk circumvention of a legal requirement (“high 2”). The Postal Service's substantial infrastructure and coordination with both private industry and other government agencies requires the generation of schedules, maps, routes, manuals, and plans that could be used to circumvent a variety of legal requirements, including anti-terrorism laws. The Postal Service routinely protects these records under high 2 when necessary.

FOIA Exemption 3 provides that agencies may withhold records that are exempted from disclosure by another statute. Examples of such statutes include the Postal Reorganization Act and 39 U.S.C. §§ 410(c) and 412. Specifically, 39 U.S.C. § 410(c)(2) does not require the disclosure of “information of a commercial nature, including trade secrets, whether or not obtained from a person outside the Postal Service, which under good business practice would not be publicly disclosed.” Some of the types of information withheld under (c)(2) include: Information about methods of handling valuable Registered Mail; money order records; technical information on postage meters and prototypes submitted for approval before leasing to mailers; market surveys; records indicating rural carrier lines of travel; records that would be of potential benefit to firms in economic competition with the Postal Service; information that could materially increase procurement costs; and information that might compromise testing or examination materials. Further, 39 U.S.C. § 410(c)(3) does not require the disclosure of “information prepared for use in the negotiation of collective bargaining agreements under 39 U.S.C. Chapter 12, and minutes of or notes kept during the negotiating sessions.” 39 U.S.C. § 412 prohibits the disclosure of mailing lists or other lists of names or addresses (past or present) of Postal Service customers or other persons to the public by any means or for any purpose. In addition, 39 U.S.C. § 410(c)(1) permits the withholding of the name or address, past or present, of any Postal Service customer.

FOIA Exemption 5 permits agencies to withhold “inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency.” The exemption permits agencies to withhold records that would be privileged in the context of civil discovery. These records are protected by one or more of the following privileges that have been recognized under the exemption: (1) the “deliberative process” privilege, (2) the attorney-client privilege, and (3) the attorney work-product privilege. For example, internal documents that contain opinions, suggestions, or recommendations of government employees, contain “deliberative” information within the meaning of FOIA Exemption 5. Attorney-client privilege protects confidential communications between an attorney and his client relating to a legal matter for which the client has sought professional advice. Attorney work-product privilege protects adversarial trial process by insulating attorney’s preparation from scrutiny. The Postal Service primarily uses Exemption 5 to protect records related to internal decision-making when it believes that the release of the records could result in confusion or stifling of frank, open discussion within the Postal Service. For example, records that include employee opinions and recommendations that do not reflect a final policy decision may be redacted to remove such pre-decisional recommendations.

FOIA Exemption 6 applies to personal information, including medical and personnel files, the disclosure of which would be a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. With hundreds of thousands of employees and hundreds of millions of customers, the Postal Service’s daily operations require the use of a great deal of personal information. The Postal Service commonly protects personal information about its employees, customers and other individuals which would be a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Customer information routinely protected under Exemption 6 includes records concerning change of address or post office boxholder information and complaints. Employee information routinely protected includes attendance, discipline, and medical records.

The Postal Inspection Service is the primary law enforcement arm of the Postal Service, and performs investigative and security functions essential to a stable and sound postal system. The mission of the Inspection Service is to protect the Postal Service, secure the nation’s mail system and ensure public trust in the mail. The U.S. Postal Service Office of Inspector General (USPS OIG) plays a key role in maintaining the integrity and accountability of America’s postal service, its revenue and assets, and its employees. The OIG achieves its mission of helping maintain confidence in the postal system and improving the Postal Service’s bottom line through independent audits and investigations. As such, the records maintained by the Postal Inspection Service and the USPS OIG often involve law enforcement matters. Because law enforcement records are of such interest to subjects of investigations, victims of crime, and the public at large, these records are often requested under the FOIA. The Postal Inspection Service and USPS OIG invoke the FOIA’s two privacy exemptions primarily to prevent unwarranted injury to the privacy interests of those individuals identified in law enforcement records, such as suspects, witnesses, or investigators (FOIA Exemptions 6 and 7(C)). In addition, the USPS OIG is obligated under Sec. 7 of the Inspector General Act to protect the identity of employees who provide the agency information, further strengthening the protection afforded under FOIA Exemptions 7(C) and D. The Postal Inspection Service and USPS OIG also protect information about their enforcement activities the release of which would risk circumvention of the law (FOIA Exemption 2).

III. ACRONYMS, DEFINITIONS, AND EXEMPTIONS

A. Agency-specific acronyms or other terms.

1. E-FOIA – the “Electronic Freedom of Information Act Amendments of 1996, Public Law No. 104-231, 110 Stat. 3048,” making major revisions to the FOIA, including subsection (e) that pertains to the submission of annual reports by federal agencies on their administration of the Act.
2. OIG – Office of Inspector General
3. Records Custodian – the head of a postal facility such as an area office, district office, post office, or other postal installation that maintains Postal Service records and information. Vice Presidents are the custodians of records and information maintained at Headquarters. Custodians are responsible for seeing that records within their facilities or organizations are managed according to Postal Service policies.
4. USPS – United States Postal Service.
5. USPIS – United States Postal Inspection Service.

B. Definitions.

1. Administrative Appeal – a request to a federal agency asking that it review at a higher administrative level a FOIA determination made by the agency at the initial request level.
2. Average Number – the number obtained by dividing the sum of a group of numbers by the quantity of numbers in the group. For example, of 3, 7, and 14, the average number is 8.
3. Backlog – the number of requests or administrative appeals that are pending at an agency at the end of the fiscal year that are beyond the statutory time period for response.
4. Component – for agencies that process requests on a decentralized basis, a “component” is an entity within the agency that processes FOIA requests. The FOIA now requires that agencies include in their Annual FOIA Report data for both the agency overall and for each principal component of the agency.

5. Consultation – the procedure whereby the agency responding to a FOIA request first forwards a record to another agency for its review because that other agency has an interest in the document. Once the agency in receipt of the consultation finishes its review of the record, it responds back to the agency that forwarded it. That agency, in turn will then respond to the FOIA requester.
6. Denial – an agency decision not to release any part of a record or records in response to a FOIA request because all the information in the requested records is determined by the agency to be exempt under one or more of the FOIA’s exemptions.
7. Exemption 3 statute – a federal statute that exempts or prohibits information from disclosure and which the agency relies on to withhold information under FOIA subsection (b)(3).
8. FOIA Request – A FOIA request is generally a request for access to agency records concerning another person (i.e., a “third-party” request) an organization, or a particular topic of interest. FOIA requests also include requests made by requesters seeking records concerning themselves (i.e., “first-party” requests) when those requesters are not subject to the Privacy Act, such as non-U.S. citizens. Moreover, because all first-party requesters should be afforded the benefit of both the access provisions of the FOIA as well as those of the Privacy Act, FOIA requests also include any first-party requests where an agency determines that it must search beyond its Privacy Act “systems of records” or where a Privacy Act exemption applies, and the agency looks to FOIA to afford the greatest possible access. All requests which require the agency to utilize the FOIA in responding to the requester are included in this report.

Additionally, a FOIA request includes records referred to the agency for processing and direct response to the requester. It does not, however, include records for which the agency has received a consultation from another agency. (Consultations are reported separately in Section XII of this report.)

9. Full Grant – an agency decision to disclose all records in full in response to a FOIA request.
10. Full Denial – an agency decision not to release any records in response to a FOIA request because the records are exempt in their entirety under one or more of the FOIA exemptions, or because of a procedural reason, such as when no records could be located.
11. Initial Request – a request to a federal agency for access to records under the Freedom of Information Act.
12. Median Number – the middle, not average, number. For example, of 3, 7, and 14, the median number is 7.

13. Multi-track Processing – a system in which simple requests requiring relatively minimal review are placed in one processing track and more voluminous and complex requests are placed in one or more other tracks. Requests in each track are processed on a first-in, first-out basis. Requests granted expedited processing are placed in yet another track. Requests in each track are processed on a first in/first out basis
 - i. Expedited Processing – an agency will process a FOIA request on an expedited basis when a requester satisfies the requirements for expedited processing as set forth in the status and agency regulations.
 - ii. Simple Request – a FOIA request that an agency using multi-track processing places in its fastest (non-expedited) track based on the low volume and/or simplicity of the records requested.
 - iii. Complex Request – a FOIA request that an agency using multi-track processing places in a slower track based on the high volume and/or complexity of the records requested.
14. Partial Grant/Partial Denial – in response to a FOIA request, an agency decision to disclose portions of the records and to withhold other portions that are exempt under the FOIA, or to otherwise deny a portion of the request for a procedural reason.
15. Perfected Request – a FOIA request for records which reasonably describes the records sought and is made in accordance with published rules stating the time, place, fees (if any) and procedures to be followed.
16. Processed Request or Processed Administrative Appeal – a request or administrative appeal for which an agency has taken a final action in all respects.
17. Range in Number of Days – the lowest and highest number of days to process requests or administrative appeals.
18. Time limits – the time period in the FOIA for an agency to respond to a FOIA request (ordinarily 20 working days from receipt of a perfected FOIA request).
