My family and I are filled with pride and gratitude for this remarkable tribute to our beloved husband, father, and grandfather.”

Mrs. Ford will be joined at the McCallum Theatre ceremony by her children Jack Ford and Susan Ford Bales and by several of her grandchildren.

President and Mrs. Ford’s son Michael Ford will dedicate the stamp in Grand Rapids with U.S. Postal Service Executive Director Rosa Fulton. President Ford’s brother, Richard A. Ford, will be present at the Grand Rapids dedication.
“We owe President Ford an immense debt of gratitude,” said Postmaster General Potter, “as a man who put his nation first; as a man who was guided by what he read in his heart, and as a man who succeeded in his goal to make this great government work for the good of all Americans.”

The Postal Service produced 80 million 41-cent stamps in sheets of 20 that will be available for sale Friday, August 31. Stamp artist Michael J. Deas of Brooklyn Heights, NY, created the stamp under the direction of stamp designer Ethel Kessler of Bethesda, MD.
