

American Indian Subjects on United States Postage Stamps

Since 1898, many stamps have been issued to honor American Indians and their contributions. Below is a list of those stamps along with their denomination and date of issue. Stamps on which American Indians are part of a mixed scene — for example the ten-cent 1893 "Columbus Presenting Natives" stamp or the three-cent 1934 "Wisconsin Tercentenary" stamp — are not included.

The "Indian Hunting Buffalo" stamp was the first U.S. postage stamp to portray a uniquely Native American theme.
