

Famous Postal Workers

Most people know that Benjamin Franklin worked for the Postal Service, but did you know that Bing Crosby and Walt Disney did too? For most of the people on this list, postal work came before fame. A few — like Fred Lindstrom and Harry Hooper — were famous first.

Twelve of these individuals have also been commemorated on U.S. postage stamps. Their names are marked with an asterisk.*

Richard Wright stamp issued April 9, 2009
Wright worked at the Chicago Post Office before moving to New York City and achieving success as an author.
