

Robert Cintron

Vice President, Network Operations

Robert Cintron was named vice president, Network Operations, in May 2016. In this position, he oversees the Postal Service's distribution network, including overall network design, policies and programs for processing sites, logistics required to move the mail and maintenance policies and programs that support the network. He reports to the chief operating officer and executive vice president.

In his previous role as vice president, Enterprise Analytics, in 2015, Cintron was responsible for innovations in technologies and tracking systems, including scanning, integration of network information visibility systems and data analytics.

Cintron began his postal career in 1986 as a clerk in Rochester, New York. He has held a wide variety of positions, including vice president, Product Information; district manager, Western Pennsylvania District; senior plant manager, Northern Ohio and Western New York Districts; manager, In-Plant Support for the Northeast Area; and plant manager in Stamford, Connecticut.

Cintron graduated from Roberts Wesleyan College with a bachelor's degree in organizational management. In December 2017, he received his Masters of Business Operational Excellence from Ohio State University's Fisher College of Business. He is a graduate of the Postal Service's Advanced Leadership Program, the Processing and Distribution Management Program, and he is a Certified Executive Green Belt.
